A CENTURY OF PROGRESS AND EXPERIENCE

THE PELICAN FOUNTAIN PEN

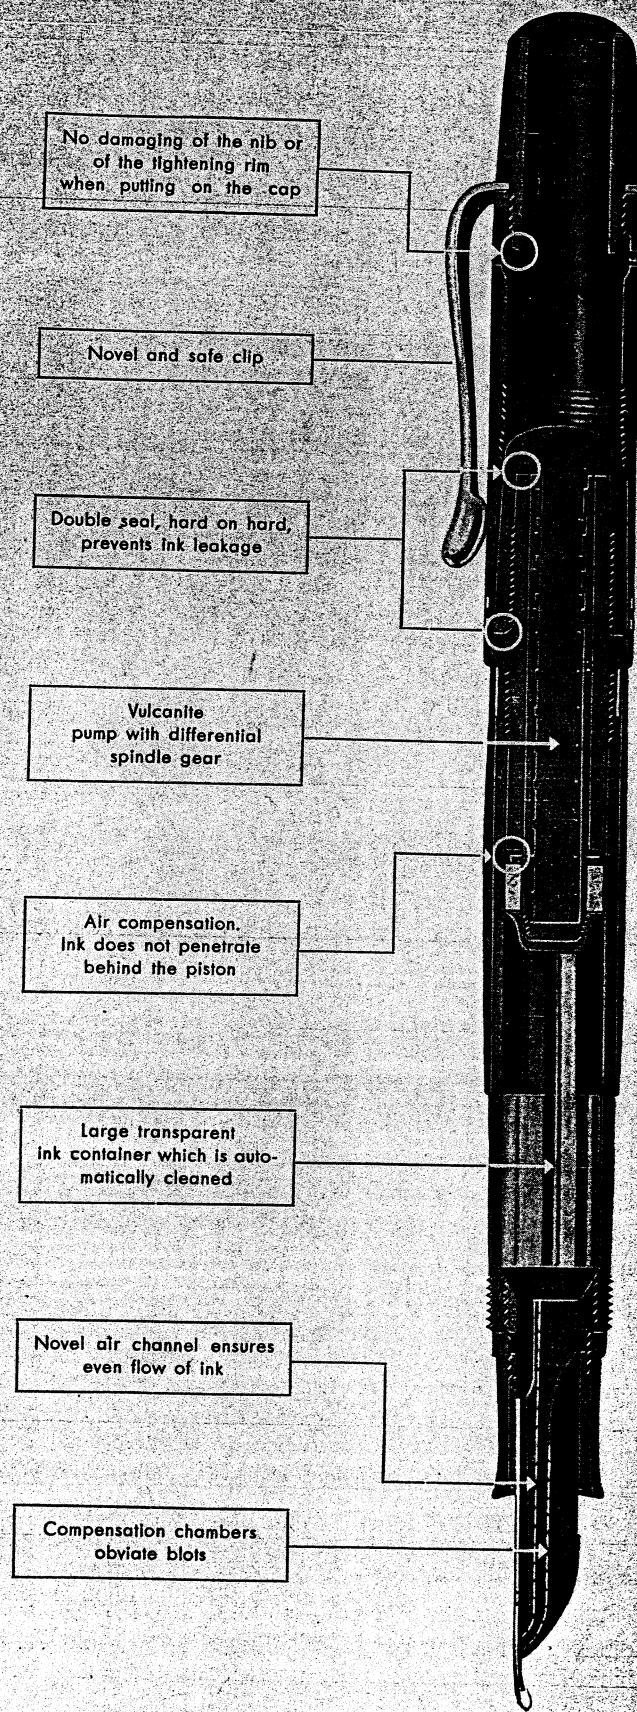

With the Pelican Fountain Pen an absolutely new type of holder appeared on the market which at once became very popular as it introduced a new chapter in the history of the fountain pen. A suction pump with differential spindle gear ensures clean, rapid and reliable filling. The compensation chambers of the nib obviate blots. The special ink feed for the nib ensures instant writing. The piston of the pump automatically cleans the ink container and keeps it transparent. The carefully constructed nibs possess the most suitable degree of elasticity. They are supplied in all desired points and degrees of hardness. The points consist of hard Osmiridium of great durability, having an extraordinary long life. Really good articles are often imitated, as has been done with the Pelican fountain pen – but only outwardly – the important features, protected by patents both at home and abroad, cannot be imitated. The Pelican Fountain Pen is made with a precision up to $\pm \frac{1}{100}$ mm. All parts are therefore easily exchangeable.

Special features of the PELICAN FOUNTAIN PEN

- 1 The PELICAN FOUNTAIN PEN is fitted with a solid and well constructed never failing piston pump which fills the pen and at the same time cleans the ink container and keeps it transparent. Owing to the differential spindle gear the pump works easily and quickly. The screw on the filling grip has a little play, thus preventing the ink from spurting out as soon as the filling grip is loosened. Turning the grip to the left ejects the ink from the container, reversing this action fills it and secures a double-lock, hard on hard, therefore leak-proof. Brit. Patent No. 278336.
- 2 Underneath the nib is a special device (compensation chambers) which regulates the excess of ink forced out of the ink container through the warmth of the hand. This safety device obviates blots even when the ink supply is running low. A great advantage. Brit. Patent No. 309492.
- 3 The flow of ink from the PELICAN FOUNTAIN PEN is always even and not alternately strong or weak. This is the result of the construction of the air channel in the ink feed. Brit. Patent No. 356436.
- 4 The nib of the PELICAN FOUNTAIN PEN cannot be damaged when putting on the cap. Brit. Patent No. 355428.
- 5 The PELICAN FOUNTAIN PEN is equipped with a clip of novel design. It glides easily over the edge of the pocket and holds the fountain pen with a firm grip. Brit. Patent No. 352483.

No damaging of the nib or of the tightening rim when putting on the cap

Novel and safe clip

Double seal, hard on hard, prevents ink leakage

Vulcanite pump with differential spindle gear

Air compensation. Ink does not penetrate behind the piston

Large transparent ink container which is automatically cleaned

Novel air channel ensures even flow of ink

Compensation chambers obviate blots
